Ducati Streetfighter You and what army?

The Streetfighter blends a Superbike soul with naked sophistication to create a machine that runs on pure adrenalin. Full-on race technology, skeletal styling and smooth design take Ducati's big naked concept straight to the top of the fighter food chain. With a massive 155 HP compressed into just 368lbs, the Streetfighter packs a mighty punch. Soul of a Superbike, attitude of a fighter.

GRANT BEECHER 26, is a freelance photographer in northeast Georgia. He specializes in tattoo/alt and pinup photography, but also enjoys photographing bands, concerts, events and the like. Born in Savannah and raised in rural Georgia, he recently earned his BA in English, but has put that career path on the backburner in order to pursue photography, for which he has no formal training. Internet tutorials FTW.

CHRIS HARRISON I live in Newcastle upon Tyne (the home of Brown Ale) and the greatest town in the world. The girls I shoot, can be dressed or naked as long as you bring attitude. If they are inked then that's even cooler. I like the women I photograph to be strong, sexy, and most importantly, in charge. I'm as passionate about music as I am about photography. My major influence is music more than anything, from metal and rock to blues and country. One day I hope to go pro and until then I will keep working and improving my craft.

JOSHUA STRINGER I am a professional photographer based out of Baton Rouge, Louisiana specializing in "Beauty and Glamour" Photography. Striving for unique poses, diff angles, stylish lighting to make one of a kind photos like no other is what I strive for in my work and art. No matter what the style of the shoot, I am professional and provide a fun, "non-creepy" atmosphere to shoot in. Still young but full of experience I always bring my "A" game to shoots and strive to bring the best out of my models and my work come shoot and have some fun.

LAWRENCE BRYANT of LB Photography is a freelancer who has made a statement in the St. Louis area in the photography scene. Contributing to Inked Girls Magazine provide another outlet to captivate and grab the attention of a much broader audience. Even with his quiet demeanor his photos always speak in volumes.

WOLF189 has been active in various fields of photography during last 18 years from journalism and documentary to fine art and editorial fashion. A background in cinema and mathematics plays a role in the compositions and moods in his photographs. You can review a small collection of his poetry, painting and photography works in his most recent book "21 grams of dust" as well as in his website.

CONNECTING TATTOOS

Letter

As our production team is busy shipping this issue of Inked Girls, I am busy reflecting on the all of the great photographers that have submitted their work and all of the the beautiful women that have exposed themselves for our readers.

I'm busy thinking about 2011 and the changes ahead and what the publishing industry has begun to call "Replica Editions," editions for the computer, iPad, iPhone, Android and countless other electronic devices, and what this will mean for our readers. I'm also busy planning the design for our website, www.inkedgirls.com, chatting with our friends on facebook.com/inkedgirls and working on finding the right Pin-Up girls to put in future issues of the magazine.

Quadra Media will be launching a new magazine Freshly Inked in early 2011. In each issue of Freshly Inked we will profile 8-12 relatively unknown tattoo artists from the world. The hope is that Feshly Inked will become a reference source for tattoo lovers. We will continue to evolve and hopefully provide you with publications you'll look forward to reading issue after issue and year after year.

Hopefully, you've enjoyed Inked Girls as much as I have.

Don Hellinger, President

A photograph of Norman 'Sailor Jerry' Collins, an elderly man with glasses and a mustache, wearing a white t-shirt. He is holding a pipe in his mouth and has extensive tattoos on his arms. He is working on a piece of wood with a hand plane.

“MY WORK SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.”

-NORMAN “SAILOR JERRY” COLLINS 1911 - 1973

The father of old-school tattooing, Norman “Sailor Jerry” Collins was a master craftsman whose artistry and integrity remain as timeless as the rum that bears his signature.
